VISIT TO SOCIAL INSTITUTIONS

One of the objects of the Centre is to make students learn about the functioning of various socio-legal institutions. Keeping this in mind ILS Legal Aid Centre organized 3 visits to 2 different social institutions.

VISITS TO YERWADA OPEN PRISON

To better grasp the problems faced by convicts, inmates, and officers, two visits were organized to Yerwada Open Prison. The idea to visit the jail came from cases relating to cases of prisoners which had come to the Legal Aid Centre. Further, it was believed that understanding the mindset of the police officers and prisoners was equally important to deal with the cases.

The Yerwada open prison was established in 1956 and has since been a model prison for the country. It is known for its focus on rehabilitating and reintegrating prisoners into mainstream society. This Open prison is a part of Yerwada Central Jail (built by Britishers in 1871).

1. First Visit to Yerwada Open Prison

Faculty Coordinator - Mr. D. P. Kendre

Student Coordinator - Madhavraje Patwardhan (V BA LLB)

Date - February 18, 2023

Under the guidance and supervision of Mr. D. P. Kendre, 19 students visited the open prison to get a glimpse of its working. Jailer of the open prison Mr. Hemant. D. Patil gave valuable information to the students about the history, famous inmates and freedom fighters who were housed there and actual functioning of the open prison. He explained the importance of the restitution theory of punishment as opposed to the retributive theory and now the reformatory theory of punishment which is followed in the new modern age prison system.

Students were informed about the kind of work the prisoners do and the amount of wages paid to the prisoners, what they are to do if the wages are not paid, how this money can be used for the family members of the prisoners, and how they can use this money to purchase extra food and goods like shaving cream and other essentials for their benefit. An authorized seller brings food and other goods to the jail from whom these persons may purchase items. There are over 14 factories on the jail premises, which are spread over the area of 512-acre. The goods of the jail factories are supplied to various other manufacturing units like textile and utensils, carpentry Etc. Some items are also sold in the jail shop, which is open to the common public. Students were also informed about the food that the jail inmates receive and they were also invited to inspect the kitchen and taste some of the food.

2. Second Visit to Yerwada Open Prison

Faculty Coordinator- Mr. Ashish Pawar and Mr. Akshay Ugale

Student Coordinator - Soham Thakare (III BA LLB)

Date- March 4, 2023

Students of the Legal Aid Centre of ILS law college, Pune, got an opportunity to once again visit Yerwada open prison under the guidance of Mr. Akshay Ugale. The Jailer briefed students about the daily activities, schedule, barracks and employment opportunities of the inmates and the following information was gathered from the same:

When prisoners have served most of their time in the central jail and no longer require high security, they are transferred to an open prison. This facility houses those inmates who have demonstrated good behavior, are healthy with both body and mind and are open to finding jobs. Over 170 inmates of open prisons grow organic vegetables, do various farming activities, handloom work etc.

Issues described by the official: Overcrowding is a common issue in many prisons worldwide, and Yerwada open prison is no exception. Despite being an open prison, it has faced overcrowding and shortage of personnel. The prison has struggled to maintain adequate staff members to manage the increasing number of inmates. This has led to issues regarding prisoner safety. 18 students participated in this camp.

Student Participants: Soham Thakare, Anugraha Jose, Khyati Pandey, Prasanna Chavahan, Anjali Chamediya, Pritesh Shende, Sneha Jaiswal, Shweta Kale, Christina, Nikita Sukheja, Ishwari Nyamane, Viraj Yeole, Ubaid Hashmi, Anushka Garse, Aniket Hilm, Preeti Jadhav, Payal Kabra and Atharva Hadawale (all III BA LLB)

INTERNSHIPS AND FIELD WORK

The ILS Legal Aid Centre believes in making the legal education community responsive and socially relevant. Thus, the Centre provides an opportunity to student members to work with various stakeholders involved in fostering social responsibility through internships. These internships have promoted deeper interactions between Legal Aid Centre and local communities and have opened the doors of local knowledge and wisdom for students and teachers. During 2022-23, two such internship opportunities were provided to the students giving them first hand experience of working for a social cause.

1. Internship with Narmada Bachao Andolan

Duration : May 2-11, 2023

Student Coordinator : Madhavraje Patwardhan

Venue: Narmada Ashish, Navalpura, Barwani, Madhya Pradesh.

Introduction

About Narmada Bachao Andolan : Narmada Bachao Andolan (NBA) is an Indian social movement headed by native tribes (adivasis), farmers, environmentalists and human rights activists against a number of large dam projects across river Narmada which flows through the state of Gujarat, Madhya Pradesh and Maharashtra. The Narmada Bachao Andolan has been involved in a prolonged struggle regarding the construction of a dam, which has posed one of the most enduring challenges since the country's independence. The primary point of contention revolves around the government's failure to adequately resettle and rehabilitate the individuals displaced by the project. As law students, our students took the responsibility to help social workers understand the relevant laws and how they apply in practice.

Interaction with Medha Patkar

Students got an opportunity to interact with Ms Medha Patkar. Her unwavering commitment to her work and passionate advocacy for the resettlement of project-affected individuals was evident throughout the conversation with her.

Visit to Raj Ghat :

On the first day, students visited a significant site known as Raj Ghat, renowned as the final resting place of Mahatma Gandhi. Students' visit involved an exploration of both the old and the new Ghat. Regrettably, the construction of the Sardar Sarovar dam in Gujarat has resulted in a substantial rise in water levels, encroaching upon the land by approximately 50 meters. Students learned that the new Ghat, though partially constructed, remains susceptible to submersion for a considerable duration of eight months each year.

Visit to Chikalda :

On the same day, an excursion was made to a village situated in close proximity to Raj Ghat, known as Chikalda. This village has witnessed extensive devastation, as a result of being fully submerged in water. Furthermore, the trees within the village had succumbed to decay due to prolonged submersion. All the residents have been rehabilitated, leaving behind a temple as the sole surviving structure within the village.

Visit to Kheda :

This village, too, fell victim to submersion caused by a flooded river. During this visit, students encountered a few villagers who were yet to be resettled. In order to document the situation, video footage was captured.

Visit to Hilly (Pahadi) areas :

Students got an opportunity to visit hilly (pahadi) areas wherein they visited villages like Bhitada, Anjanwara, Jalan Sindhi, Jalsindhi, Maal, Dhadgaon, Chikli office of the NBA, Jeevan Nagar Jeevan Shala etc.

During their visit to the hilly areas and tribal regions, the team interacted with the local residents. They reviewed essential documents, including Aadhaar cards and reports issued by the local government. It was discovered that a significant number of individuals in these regions lack Aadhaar cards altogether. Furthermore, for families possessing Aadhaar cards, their cards indicated discrepancies in age and various other inaccuracies.

Visit to Sondul tin sheds and Jahangarwa :

In 2019, an unforeseen flood swept through the region, prompting government action to reset and rehabilitate the villages that had not been anticipated to fall within the command area of the dam.

Hastily constructed tin sheds were provided to each family, offering temporary shelter until the Narmada dam authority issued directives regarding land allocation or financial compensation. However, a number of individuals still await the fulfillment of their entitlements, necessitating their continued residence in these makeshift dwellings. Our team engaged with the villagers produced a documentary shedding light on the challenges they face. One significant concern revealed through our interactions was the intense daytime heat that renders the tin sheds inhospitable. The existing civil amenities, serving around 300 families, fall short of the standards mandated by the court. While a lone police officer is present, the promised school remains unoccupied, and although a government-established hospital operates on a weekly basis, its schedule is subject to the discretion of the attending doctor.

Reading of judgements and books :

In order to gain a deeper understanding of the challenge, students were given the task to read court judgments in favor of the Narmada Bachao Andolan from various judicial entities, including the National Green Tribunal, High Courts, and the Supreme Court. After carefully studying the judgements the following observations are made by the students:-

- The existing laws pertaining to compensation for the flood victims are insufficient, thereby limiting the Supreme Court's ability to provide optimal relief. It is worth considering that the arguments presented by the NBA may not have been persuasive enough to override the application of the Utilitarian theory, which influenced the court's decision-making process.
- Compensation is granted to both land owners and landless laborers.
- Land owners are entitled to receive a minimum of two hectares of land, up to a maximum of eight hectares, depending on the extent of submergence.
- In cases where the provided land is unsuitable for agriculture due to inadequate irrigation or other reasons, farmers have the option to receive compensation of 30 lakhs per hectare to facilitate the purchase of alternative land.
- Affected individuals are also eligible for housing plots measuring 60 by 90 feet, along with an allowance of 580,000 for construction purposes, in addition to various other allowances.

- One significant concern is the substantial distance between the allocated housing plots and farmland, making it impractical for farmers to cultivate their land effectively. In some instances, the distance can span between 50 to 100 kilometers.
- While some individuals have managed to cope with the challenges and make the necessary adjustments, others continue to face difficulties.

It is noteworthy that farmers encounter a significant problem due to the increased prices of land since the grant of compensation. Finding land at the designated price becomes challenging as the compensation is released incrementally, making it difficult for farmers to secure suitable land when the need arises.

Visit to Icalgara village

This village is struggling with the issue of illegal sand mining, and students conducted extensive interactions with the affected villagers to understand the challenges they face. Students delved into the geological significance of the river and closely examined the process of sand extraction. They got first hand insight into the unlawful practices of sand mining occurring along the riverbanks.

Visit to Tapu Village

Located on the banks of the Narmada River and in close proximity to Raj Ghat, this village is surrounded by water on all sides for several months of the year. While the affected families have been provided with land in Gujarat, the allocated house plots are situated at a considerable distance from the agricultural fields and the land is not arable. Despite this, the villagers continue to reside on their original land, expressing their concerns regarding the aridity of the provided farming areas.

Student participants - Madhavraje Patwardhan (V BA LLB), Snehal Sambhare, Kaustubh Rahekar (both III LL B), Prashik Rakshe, Vaishnavi Kakade, Nilam Zende and Ujef Shaikh (IV BA LLB)

2. Internship - Social Audit For Building and Construction Workers (BOCW) in Maharashtra in association with Lokayat, NGO

Faculty Coordinator: Ms Vindhya Gupta

Student Coordinator : Indraneel Gurjar and Deepen Kadam (both I LLB)

The social audit task started with the volunteers' meeting in Lokayat Hall, Pune, on the 26th & 27th December, 2022. This meeting was attended by different organizations working for the welfare of the construction workers. On the first day, a briefing about Social Audit was done, and problems regarding the registration of BOCW and problems of unorganized sectors were discussed. Volunteers representing different organizations such as SAFAR (Social Accountability Forum for Action and Research), CFAR (Centre For Advocacy & Research), CYDA (Centre for Youth Development & Activities), Khelghar, DALSA (District Legal Services Authority), Bandhkam Majur Sabha, Shramik Haq Andolan, Aajeevika Bureau and ILS Law College, Pune were also present. On the second day, i.e. December 27, Mr. Khush Vachhrajani and Mr. Paras Banjara, both members of SAFAR, presented on the Jansunwai, which was done earlier in Rajasthan and discussed the different schemes of BOCW.

The basic idea of Jansunwai was to confirm whether the people of the identified areas have applied for the benefit of the scheme as well as create awareness about the schemes and execution of the same. Also there was a task to check if the relevant information received from the workers was in an app designed for the said purpose

From the 9th to 15th of January, actual groundwork in the form of Jansunwai was conducted. A group of 4-6 volunteers regularly visited Vishrantwadi and Yerwada in the morning and evening. Volunteers met and explained to the construction workers who were unaware of the schemes launched by the government for labour welfare, what Maha BOCW is and what benefits they may get from the worker card given to them. It was also noticed that there were many discrepancies and delays in receiving their e-shram cards. All the data collected by each group was compiled, and the draft was prepared.

The Jansunwai was conducted on January 15 at 10.00 am in Shahid Abdul Hamid Urdu Primary School, Yerwada. Officers from BOCW and other social forums came together to hear and resolve the workers' queries. A veteran social activist Baba Aadhaao was also present at the venue. The outcome of this Jansunwai was BOCW Pune has noted all the problems related to the delay in the registration process and issues faced by the building and other construction workers and promised to resolve them as soon as possible.

The benefit of this entire Social Audit & Jansunwai was that the construction workers who are generally unaware of the benefits and the application process to receive those benefits got to know about all the current labor welfare schemes and the process to apply as the grievance redressal mechanism. Our students learned about the salient features of the BOCW Act, 1996 and the use of Social Audit in legal practice, such as while filing PILs and more which will surely help them while working for the betterment of the workers in future.

RESEARCH WORK

I. Maharashtra Regional Town Planning

The Legal Aid Center has been a forerunner in taking up research on the Maharashtra Regional and Town Planning(MRTP) cases where the student volunteers are encouraged to analyze the cases on the complex legal issues involved in the dispute.

The cases generally revolve around land records of both rural and urban nature, land consolidation issues, mutation entry issues to name a few. The disputes are centered around land measurements, title and ownership.

The case analysis equips the students to understand legalities involved in the various land laws applicable in Maharashtra and develop legal acumen necessary for the practice of civil laws.
