The exercise of mooting is one of the highlights of every law curriculum. It teaches students the skills, quintessential for solving legal problems. These skills encompass both soft skills as well as writing skills. It is one of the apparent collaterals of any law school's curriculum and one which is most relished by most students.

ILS Moot Court Society ("MCS") was founded in the academic year 2014-15 to burgeon the interests of students in the activity of mooting, facilitate students to understand intricacies of legal research, acquire sufficient stronghold over the utilization of online legal databases, organize research to crisp and clear legal propositions on the issues presented in a moot proposition which finally culminates in to a clinching argument in a moot court competition. This is achieved with our student members hosting weekly sessions throughout the academic year on various aspects of mooting which range from introduction to mooting, use of research operators, tenets of legal reading and research, interpretation of statutes, moot demonstrations, drafting moot problems, drafting memorandums, formatting memorandums and mechanics of oral advocacy. In addition, MCS organizes the Novice Moot Court Competition and Public International Law Moot Court Competition to assist students in their first and sophomore year of law school to acquaint them with the exercise of mooting.

Every year, MCS also hosts Raghavendra Phadnis Moot Court Competition, which serves as a selection round for students inclined to represent ILS Law College at national and state level moot court competitions while Intra College Public International Law Moots Selection Rounds serve as a selection round for students inclined to represent ILS Law College at international moot court competitions or in moot court competitions where the subject matter is public international law. Both these competitions are highly awaited events of the year and witness massive participation from students across all batches.

Furthermore, MCS deals with all specific and ancillary aspects of organization of moot court competitions, circulation of invitations of national and international moot court competitions, client counseling competitions, mediation and negotiation competitions, trial advocacy competitions, allotment of the teams and assistance to students in completing respective registration processes of competitions.

The ILS Moot Court Society consists of student members from every batch who are selected every year based on defined criteria by inviting applications and conducting interviews. Once the core committee is formulated, the tasks at hand are democratically distributed within the members of the committee.

REMEMBERING S P SATHE

Remembering S P Sathe:

Professor S. P. Sathe Foundation, set up by the Indian Law Society, organizes "Remembering S P Sathe" event that consists of Public Memorial Lecture, Moot Court Competition, and Conference at ILS Law College, Pune on a specific theme with a view to commemorate his contribution to Indian Jurisprudence and Social Action and to encourage academic pursuit of law students. This annual event of 2020-21 was delayed due to the pandemic and was held in October 2021 in a virtual mode.

Theme of the Moot Court Competition:

The theme of this year's (2020-21) moot proposition was 'Role of Forensic Science and Technology in Criminal Justice System: Challenges and Threats'.

Technological revolution has brought a paradigm shift in the fields of forensic science. DNA profiling, lie detector tests, narco analysis are some of the most obvious and striking examples of such a merger of scientific discovery, technological advancement and forensic application in the criminal justice delivery system. There is an increased resort to the application of new technological advancements in forensic science to criminal investigation. The benefits are many folds; but primarily it has the potential to strongly increase the speed and efficacy of criminal investigation. While on the other hand the application of forensic tools has led to moral, legal and physical abuse of individuals. Use of forensic tools in the criminal justice system raises serious issues of privacy rights and violation of human rights.

Essentially forensic science has to operate in a legal context. There are constitutional and other legal constraints on how a criminal investigation can be carried out. It also raises concerns about reliability and relevance of scientific evidence in criminal trials. Therefore it is necessary to set out the rules regarding validity, reliability, admissibility and acceptability of scientific and digital evidence in criminal trials.

Considering the recent increase in environmental conflicts mainly due to climate change at the international frontier, it is pertinent to have a discourse amongst law students on the relevant issues. The Professor S.P. Sathe 16th International Moot Court Competition was organized to introduce participants to the intersection of International Law with Climate Change. International cooperation is essential to the effort against climate change and the need for which was visible at CoP 26 at Glasgow. Therefore, it is important to comprehend and recognize the role played by international law in facilitating this cooperation, and enabling adaptation efforts across the globe.

Climate refugees are people whose lives and livelihood are endangered due to climate change, because of their geographical circumstances. Currently, the international law is inadequate to recognize the needs of climate refugees and provide redressal for their loss and damages suffered due to the actions of climate polluters. The effects of climate change are becoming deeply intertwined with the socio-economic fabric of our society, and it is imperative that international law develops to accommodate this new reality. Through this moot we aimed to equip the students with the understanding of the nuances of international law, climate law, and humanitarian law, particularly when it comes to dealing with conflicting interests of state and non-state actors as regards the welfare of the people. The moot proposition was drafted by Ms. Divya Mittal and Mr. Rohit Bokil, Assistant Professors at ILS Law College. The Moot Court Competition received a grant of Rs 30,000/- from the Savitribai Phule Pune University. The knowledge partners for the Competition were SCC Online and EBC.
